Top Gun

Though they are not technically a part of the high school, there are a number of individuals whose close working relationship with parents, students, and faculty is the cornerstone of the Wyomissing Area School District. Their projects, policies, and decisions determine the course of action the district will take, and the direction it will follow in providing Berks County's finest available public education. They are the school district's Top Guns, the elite, administrative few who make Wyomissing Area High School the best of the best.

The Official Story

A long time ago, a great many men and women wrote countless numbers of novels, stories, and plays. Excellent reminders of the lives, hopes, and dreams of past generations, they exist today as the remnants of a bygone era. At Wyomissing Area High School, there exists a group of well-versed, slightly eccentric individuals who fight a never-ending battle to keep these works alive. Their battle is not an easy one; they must face the wrath of hundreds of students, as well as find ways to combat the dark forces of television, film, music video, and Cliffs Notes. This group, known simply as the "English Department," is doing its best to win the War for Literary Recognition and Survival. Thus far they are succeeding, but the fighting continues . . .

The Number Game

It is a game that everyone must play — a game that lasts a lifetime. The Number Game. If you can't play it, life becomes very difficult. Numbers are used every day by every person; they are an inescapable part of society. It is the job of four mathematics specialists to prepare Wyomissing Area High School students for a lifetime of figures and statistics. These specialists, Harold Messer, Roger Evans, Jodell Funk, and computer wizard John Costenbader, dedicate their professional lives to the instruction of advanced mathematics, as well as the indoctrination of the powers of reasoning, logic, and problem solving. The Number Game is not an easy one, but playing is made much simpler by the efforts of these four numerically-oriented individuals.

Weird Science

Disguised beneath white coats and hidden behind locked laboratory doors are the six members of the Wyomissing Area High School Science Department. Isolated on their own side of the hallway, the department members carry out experiments that will change the lives of their students. It is rumored that Charles Bell, their fearless leader, has attempted shocking experiments with electricity, torque, and even radioactive decay. Next door, William Dowling and Carla Repsher test, centrifuge, and decant potentially lethal chemical compounds. Biological experts Judith Aubrey and Margaret Murray have been seen conducting complicated genetic dissections. Meanwhile, in an isolated lab, Terry Kennedy conducts secretive geographic and atmospheric tests. Together these six conspire to infiltrate the minds of their students, hoping to fascinate them in the name of science . . . Weird Science.

Aliens

Hundreds of years ago, deep in the European old country, five languages escaped from their native lands and made their way to the West by inhabiting the bodies of unsuspecting travelers. These languages eventually arrived in the United States, where they have begun to take root in the minds of millions of Americans. Recently, they have found a new way to spread from one potential victim to the next. By controlling the minds and wills of teachers, these foreign languages can be passed into the minds of hundreds of students each day. At Wyomissing Area High School, six different teachers have been possessed by these alien dialects, and they have begun to infect the student population. Unless this epidemic is controlled, and unless someone finds a way to stop these languages from spreading, high school students may soon become better-informed, multi-dimensional individuals.

True Stories

Hosted by the members of the Wyomissing Area High School Social Studies Department, this hard-hitting, documentary look at how the world has changed is not only highly fascinating but also accurately informative. Charles Gebensleben, the first of five narrative voices, details American History from the Civil War through the Nuclear Age. Charles Rittle and Dale Reigel then team-up to provide perspectives on modern economics, anthropoligical studies, and centuries of European conflict and growth. Finally, John Rausch, the coordinator of this look through time, teams with Jon Paris to present a comprehensive analysis of political practices, minority cultures, and the present study of psychology.

Though it is an epic, three-year journey into the past, present, and future, it is a historical trip well-worth taking.

Play It Again

Nestled deep in the heart of the Wyomissing Area High School gymnasium, a small, 5-member alliance dedicates itself to the shaping and training of young athletes. Conducting their training sessions twice weekly, this elite corps of instructors puts students through the rigors of a specialized athletic regimen in the hopes of developing and maintaining maximum physical fitness. A flexible, active staff, these five are not only instructors but also coaches, referees, trainers, and health counselors. Who are these versatile five? What do they call themselves? They are James Hoffert, Donald Gottshall, Mary Jo Steever, Jeanette Reigel, and team leader Ronald Fake. Their code name: the Physical Education Department.

The Artist

Students who elect to participate in Arts courses at Wyomissing Area High School expose themselves to a variety of challenging and enriching experiences. Five diverse, talented instructors put their abilities to use by shaping their students' skills and refining their talents of creativity and self-expression. In these courses, James Stephens portrays the Industrial Arts Chairman, while Kathryn Wealand co-stars as his neighboring Home Economics teacher. Bonnie Ritter appears as the Visual Arts director, C. Russell Cattell offers support in the role of the Concert Choir Director, and William Deacon has a cameo as the dedicated band director. As a whole, this cast of five combines to provide a comprehensive, skillful induction into the world of Fine and Applied Arts.

Risky Business

With enrollment in business courses at Wyomissing Area High School, students are well-prepared by the collective efforts of a highly-trained, efficient three-member staff. Starring Marjorie Robaton as the crafty, word-processing accountant, Mary Lee Olsen as the resourceful, legal-minded instructor, and Rose Ann Funk as the dedicated business woman, this department puts students through a rigorous course treatment designed to turn out the high-level executives of the future, because when these students enter the corporate world, it is no longer just ordinary business. It becomes Risky Business.

Head Office

At the heart of Wyomissing Area High School, buried beneath several thousand pounds of paperwork and administrative red tape, there work several unheralded individuals whose tasks are to regulate the events of each school day. Under the laconic leadership of Mr. Peter Cellucci, these people take special care to insure that the high school operates with smooth efficiency. From transportation co-ordination to secretarial chores, from career internship to guidance counseling, this corps of individuals dedicates itself to services which reward both students and faculty. They have earned their places as members of the elite — members of the Head Office.

7

The Producers

Behind every great film there works a top-notch production crew comprised of persons whose performance of specialized, individual tasks is an integral part of the finished product. Line workers, production assistants, and second-unit teams carry great responsibility, yet their work goes virtually unrecognized. The same is true in a school building. Librarians, secretaries, and department coordinators work long hours to assure smooth efficiency, but they receive little recognition. Even though their tasks are often overlooked, these people and their behind-the-scenes contributions are invaluable when evaluating the critical success of their project. In the end, it is usually these workers who determine whether the film is a hit or a bomb. At Wyomissing Area High School, their work carries a four-star rating.

Just as the struggle of the classes of society in the cult movie Suburbia, the classes of Wyomissing High competed head on during Spirit Week. The theme for Spirit Week 1986 was cities. From decorating the halls and dressing up to the games, everyone enjoyed the week. It was a close competition, but the Super Seniors emerged victorious. At the end of the week, there was even more competition. The football team defeated the Schuylkill Valley Panthers on the gridiron, and the Homecoming queens were crowned. That Championship Season

The 1986 Spartan football team won the Inter-County League Championship with an exciting win over Exeter. This year's championship is the second I-C Football Championship won by the Spartans in three years. The team was guided by Head Coach Jon Paris and led by captains Pete Raab, Dan Ricker, and Kevin Neff. The team's season record was 8-2-2. Kevin Neff rushed for over 1000 yards this year for a Berks County rushing record. He also achieved the county career record for over 3500 yards rushing and passes received throughout his high school career. In addition, he broke the county record by scoring 106 points this fall. Six Spartans received county recognition. The entire senior squad made many invaluable contributions and will be missed next year.

Slap Shot

This year's field hockey team enjoyed another winning season. Coach Werner, Coach Rick, and Captains Missy Heck, Tania Hollos, and Beth Reinert guided these female Spartans to a 9-3 record in the regular season. The effort put into the long practices paid off excellent dividends. The Spartans again qualified for the county tournament. Unfortunately, they lost in the semifinal round, but they qualified for the District tournament. The season came to an abrupt end when Lancaster Mennonite defeated the Spartans. Overall, though, the team had fun, which is the key to success. All-County stars Tania Hollos and Ricci Leathery provided power for the team. The hockey team is looking forward to an ever better season next year.

Champions

This year's soccer team had an excellent year, although it was only in its third year of varsity competition. Under the leadership of Coach Stephens, Coach Voigt, and co-captains Kirk Thiel, Shay Caherly, and Tom Gosselin, the team finished the season with a 14-3-2 record and its first Division I title, defeating Tulpehocken 1-0. The Spartans tied Fleetwood 1-1 after six overtimes in the championship game and earned the title of county co-champions. The team also advanced to the District III playoffs and lost to Northeastern York 1-0. Congratulations to Shay Caherly, Tom Gosselin, Kirk Thiel, Jeff Torok, and Coach Stevens, voted Coach of the year, for their being selected as members of the all-Berks soccer team. Unfortunately, the team will lose some key seniors, but many strong junior veterans will be playing on next year's team.

Caddy-shack

The 1986 Spartan golf team almost equalled last year's successes finishing with a respectable record. David Rainey and J.P. Walker led the swinging Spartans to a 4-4 record. After a slow start, the Spartans speeded up their pace. Coach Reigel aided the golfers during this transitional season. Fortune shined on the Spartans in the county tournament. David came from second place to win the county title, and he was selected to the all-county golf team. With only two seniors graduating, the future of the golf team looks bright. Good luck next year!

The Spartan cheerleaders started the season well, winning special recognition at summer cheerleading camp. Led by Captains Ann Marie Linette and Stephanie Denmark, and advised by Mrs. Wolfrum, the cheerleaders were the Spartan's biggest fans.

Blue Thunder

This year's boys' varsity basketball team had a very successful season. Their league record was 9-1; their overall record was 13-10.Captains Steve Brunner, Steve Hinsey, and Dave Moyer led the team. Juniors David Rainey and J. P. Walker, and sophomore Chris Stoudt had an excellent season. Unfortunately, Dave Moyer could not play for much of the season due to a knee injury.

Coach Dale Reigel was the driving force behind the team and took the Spartans to another Division I title. Unfortunately, this was Coach Reigel's last year of coaching, and he will be sorely missed by all. However, the JV team has some very promising athletes who could provide leadership for next year's team.

Fast Break

Although they did not match last year's season with a division championship, the girls' basketball team had an admirable winter season. Under Coaches Russ Hinsey and Kathy Marabella, the team finished with a record of 8-2 in the division and 18-5 overall. The Junior Varsity girls went undefeated at 21-0. Led by Captains Beth Reinert and Eileen O'Reilly, the girls continued to improve, as they have done for the past two years. Led by Senior Captain Keith Scollick and guided by Coach Mary Fasnacht, the Spartan bowlers competed against some very strong opposition. American Dreamer

Junior Achievement (JA) is a very important extra curricular program which teaches students how to make it in the business world. Under the supervision of local business professionals, students think of a product, produce it, and sell it for a profit. Participants learn about the free market system by competing against other JA companies. Outstanding leaders win scholarships, trips, and awards for their commendable efforts.

There are many branches of JA. Starting in fifth grade, Business Basics is offered to give an insight into the "wheeling and dealing" involved in the business world. Project Business, which involves eighth graders, prepares them for regular JA company meetings, and the common night program, involving ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students in all high schools, meets once a week.

Among the awards available to aspiring young entrepreneurs are the following: scholarships to colleges and the Dale Carnegie Speech Classes, trips to the National JA Convention (NAJAC) and Regional JA Convention (ROJAC), and awards for the best officers and outstanding salesmen.

Jack Carter, a senior, has taken advantage of the opportunities available through the JA program. As a result of his hard work, Jack has earned the following awards: Outstanding Young Businessman (local and regional), Outstanding Salesman (local), Dale Carnegie Scholarship, and trips to NAJAC and ROJAC. Congratulations Jack!

JA, a program which is capturing the interest of more students every year, offers unique opportunities for students to get a "sneak preview" into the business world. JA can open doors for aspiring students and can provide memories that will never be forgotten.

Victory

The date: Monday, October 21, 1986. The place: Governor Mifflin Stadium. The event: Berks County Soccer Championship. The contenders: Wyomissing Area Spartans versus Fleetwood Tigers. The outcome: 1-1 tie.

Was this an exciting game?! The Reading Eagle/Times called it the third best sports story of 1986, and it certainly will be etched in the minds of those players and 2,494 fans for many years — all 110 minutes of it. That's right — nearly two hours of fast paced soccer played until 10:40 P.M.! After four twenty minute regulation periods and six five minute overtimes, both coaches, Mr. Stephans and Mr. Buss, agreed to end the game due to their players' exhaustion. They also decided to replay the game in two days. However, the Berks County Interscholastic Athletic Association (BCIAA) declared the teams co-champions the next morning; it was an unprecedented decision.

Fleetwood, which had won nine Berks championships in the past ten years, scored first with 2:55 left in the second quarter. Wyomissing finally tied the game with 5:34 left in the last quarter. Controlling a lose ball in the Spartans' offensive end, Jeff Moll (A.K.A. Squid) shot it beautifully past the Tigers' goalkeeper.

Considering the fact that Wyomissing has only three years of varsity soccer experience, this co-championship is a major victory. What is the outlook for next year? With only three starting players graduating (Shay Caherly, Tom Gosselin, and Nick Steber), Fleetwood and Tulpehocken, last years' champion, had better watch out for the new kid on the field.

The Best of Times

Each year, a sophomore is chosen to represent Wyomissing Area High School at the Eastern Pennsylvania Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar. Tina Vassalo, the 1987 participant, will be a part of this exciting weekend and learn skills important in becoming a leader of tomorrow. By talking with various professionals and visiting prosperous businesses, the sundry techniques used to achieve the "American Dream" will be passed on to aspiring future entrepreneurs.

Sixteen Candles

This year, Wyomissing Area students formed a new chess club. With the help of advisor, Mr. Smither, the team ended the season with a record of 5-2-1 and won first place. Albert Chen, George Chen, Pete Ferris, Jon Fitton, Tim Jones, Andy Layman, Eric Layman, Bill Moll, Sachin Shah, Keith Scollick, and Pete Tice vied for the top eight positions or boards.

The club's membership is open to anyone, regardless of his knowledge of chess. However, only the top eight compete in the matches.

European Vacation

During the summer of 1986, Shannon Nelson, a junior, was Wyomissing Area's first student to participate in the People to People High School Ambassador Program. One of only three Berks County students to be accepted to the program, Shannon travelled with twenty other students from Boston, Philadelphia, and Lebanon County.

The first stop for Shannon's delegation was Washington D.C. for an orientation session. The students were briefed by the State Department, White House, and Pentagon before departing for the thirty-eight day trip.

Shannon became good friends with the students in the delegation and with the European teens she met. She found the lifestyles of American and European youth very similar. It seems certain fashions, television shows, music, and some school courses have a universal appeal. For five days, Shannon stayed in Madrid with her friends. They went shopping, danced at local clubs, and ate a lot of exotic foods.

She also stayed in Reid, Austria, which is a six hour drive from Vienna. Here, Shannon's visit gave her an opportunity to be aquainted with her hostess, and she experienced different customs and languages. As a result, she used sign language to communicate. Shannon also had the opportunity to meet visiting government officials and to participate in a World Health Organization meeting in Geneva and an International Atomic Energy Agency conference in Vienna. Overall, Shannon found her trip to be both enriching and rewarding.

Wisdom

While juniors, the class of 1987 took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT). These student had to wait until the beginning of their senior year before the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) announced the Letter of Commendation winners and the Semifinalists. Commendation winners were Ann Dybalski, Chad Hermann, Andy Hildebrand, Cindy Hinrichs, Shawna Reppert, and Heather Wolf. Students named Semifinalists and Finalists were Bart Bono, George Chen, and Jon Fitton (see page 47).

The honored students had qualifying scores to earn their recognition — 179 for Commendation winners and 195 for Semifinalists. Each state sets its own scores to ensure an equal representation of outstanding students for the entire nation; therefore, the Semifinalists represent about one-half of one percent of every state's graduating seniors. Since 1969, the Wyomissing Area School District has had more students as Semifinalists than any other school in Berks County.

Each Semifinalist completes an application form to qualify for the Finalist status, and about ninety percent of them attain it. However, only about forty-four percent of the Finalists actually receive any scholarships. The NMSC bases its decisions on the scores from both the PSAT/NMSQT and SAT school recommendations, extracurricular accomplishments, contributions to the school and community, and academic records. Tenative career plans, field of study, college choice, and financial need are not factors in choosing the scholarship winners.

Weird Science

Eighth period Nuclear Science: an elitist cult of seven eccentric, intellectual individuals who tempted the fates of neutron flux problems, Scanners lectures, three-period tests, and the "NRG" of radioactive decay. Clad in stylish white lab coats, these daring souls boldly chose to take this course, never imagining what surprises it held.

At the heart of their intense academic year, from November through February, these fledgling scientists conceived, performed, and documented an extensive experiment with high-level nuclear waste containment. The tests, designed to seal radioactive samples of Co60 in hollow glass tubes, yielded interesting results for the research team to divulge at the 1987 AT&T Science Fair.

George Chen and Jack Carter led the glass molding phase of the project while Keith Scollick orchestrated the preparation of corrosive substances. Jon Fitton designed and constructed a tumbling device. Bart Bono spearheaded the final spectra readings, and Chris Burns headed the research efforts. Chad Hermann authored the final report, which chronicled all of the events as they proceeded under the laconically watchful eye of Mr. Charles W. Bell.

The research proved successful: radiation was contained, half-lives were monitored and controlled, and the Wyomissing Area High School remained free from contamination. Chernobyl it was not.

The Kids Who Knew Too Much

Many Wyomissing students gave part of their busy 1986 summer to attend various academic programs. Several colleges provided Summer Enrichment Programs for outstanding junior and senior students. Chris Burns and Amy Niehaus participated in the Penn State science program, Rachael Arauz in the Albright international studies program, Traci Schmidt, Mike Hatt, and Karlie Benson in the Kutztown art program, and Jack Carter in the Reading Area Community College mathematics and computers program. Heather Wolf attended Harvard Summer School for eight weeks. Amy Evans, Ann Dybalski, and Janette Suh attended Lafayette's Music Scholarship Program. George Chen was chosen to participate in the Pennsylvania Governor's School for the Sciences. One of ninety students selected throughout the state, he represented WAHS at Carnegie Mellon University. Having received a glimpse of college life, the students were anxious to continue excelling in academic performance.

An American Tail

The Pajama Game, this year's Wyomissing Area Spring Musical, starred the following students:
Cindy Hinrichs — Babe
Shawn Godack — Sid
Andy Hildebrand — Hines
Michele Szymanski — Gladys
Megan Van Bodegraven — Mabel
Rob Moll — Hasseler
Cliff Lubitz — Prez
Tara Kennedy — Mae

The play is set in a small Iowan factory owned by the Sleeptite Pajama Corporation. The main conflict, union versus management, concerns the latter's refusal to grant an eight cent per hour wage increase. In the play's subplot, Sid is accused of hitting another worker, and Babe, a member of the union's Grievance Committee, had to file a complaint. In the conclusion of the musical production, those two people fall in love, and the union receives its pay raise. Director Faye Barlet and Student Director Ann Dybalski organized and produced the show.

Destination Tokyo

This year's exchange student was Yuki Tomizawa from Tokyo, Japan. When returning to her homeland at the end of the year. Yuki will have many interesting things to tell her parents, brother, sister, and senior classmates. After furthering her education in a Japanese college, Yuki hopes to utilize her English skills by working in an international job.

When comparing Wyomissing Area High School to her school in Japan, Yuki found many similarities, although she felt WAHS was more casual about socializing in the halls. She also enjoyed the various clubs and activities which this school offered, such as Drama Club, I.S.C., Latin Club, Ski Club, and Thoreau Club.

In her free time, Yuki plays the organ, goes shopping, and learns everything she can about the United States. Through the Cultural Trips and choir, Yuki has traveled to New York City, Washington D.C., and Philadelphia. Upon her return to Tokyo, Yuki will have many memories of great times at Wyomissing.

From the Hip

After many of the Spartan sporting events, McDonald's is a definite hot spot among students. Since socializing is an important part of high school, McD's provides the fries, Big Mac, and atmosphere for hanging out and having a great time. However, some kids are unable to enter the fast food restaurant when the employees mistakenly believe that one more person inside the building will cause it to burst. As the unfortunate students stand against the windows begging to be admitted, the fortunate ones pretend to pity them, yet continue to enjoy themselves inside. School spirit is increased as the Spartans defend their newly built hangout, which is next to the Vanity Fair complex, against rivals from Holy Name, whose students also come after games to socialize. McD's was built for outlet shoppers, but it is used at night by local high school students.

Fame

Each week, the Reading Eagle/Times newspaper picks an Athelete of the Week. This year, three Spartans were chosen by the conclusion of the winter sports season.

10/21/86 — David Rainey — junior — David won the Berks County Interscholastic Athletic Association (BCIAA) Boys Golf tournament at Blackwood Golf Course, shooting a 7 over 77 for a three day total of 159.

11/11/86 — Mike Albert — junior — Mike, a 6'2" 175 lb. junior quarterback, threw for two touchdowns and ran for one in a 31-0 victory over Conrad Weiser. He completed four of seven passes for 78 yards and ran ten times for 25 yards.

10/14/86 — Kevin Neff — senior — An All-Berks pick last season, he ran for 142 yards on seventeen carries. He ran for touchdowns of 50, 1, and 23 yards, and also caught three passes, including a 30 yard TD. On defense, he made two interceptions.

11/4/86 — Kevin Neff — senior — A two time Athlete of the Week, he rushed twelve times for 91 yards, including touchdown runs of 1, 14, and 13 yards to lead the Spartans to a 4-15 win over the Exeter Eagles that clinched the Inter-County League Championship. As fullback, Kevin also caught two passes for 27 yards, including an 8 yard TD pass.

Exploring the Unknown

Due to a lack of interest by students over the past years, trips to travel across the world were not available, but this year, Mr. Dowling and six students travelled to Ireland. The students were Amy Niehaus, Donna Rule, Megan Ketner, Monique Markey, Mahatma Sahoo, and Lisa Yeager. Included during the eight day itinerary during Easter vacation, were visits to the famous "Singing Pub," the Waterford Crystal Factory, the Blarney Castle, a Medieval banquet and wool sweater mills. Experiencing the best which Ireland had to offer, the group received Irish hospitality in "bed and breakfasts" and experienced memories which will last a lifetime.

Modern Problems

High school students are continually told that they are the future. This year, W.A.H.S. started the World Concerns Group (W.C.G.) to give a path to positively influence that future. The purpose of the group is to encourage interest in issues of peace, the arms race, the environment, civil rights, and animal rights. The organization communicates these concerns to public officials, circulates petitions in cooperation with local and national groups, and follows a legal, nonviolent course to further peace on all levels, from individual to national. The W.C.G. has held several discussion meetings and has plans for a newsletter and other activities. Although it is still in its fledging stage, it is a worthy organization that should survive and thrive.

Bleeps and Blunders

After pep rallies, school dances, basketball games, and other events held in the school are over, did you ever wonder how the gym appeared spotless the next morning? The high school employs a faithful custodial staff which diligently cleans up the school and makes it a more pleasant place. Outside the school, the groundskeepers, Gary Hartman, Warren Schmehl, and Frederick Wilk, keep the campus beautiful. Simultaneously, Luther Asberry, Nunzio Cucinctta, Raymond Smith, Warren Souders, and Howard Turner provide their needed services inside the senior high school, and Anthony Papich is the Night Supervisor. These "behind-the-scenes" workers are an important part of the entire Wyomissing Area staff.

Gung-ho!

Spirit Week gets students, faculty, and fans enthusiastic about the homecoming football game. The senior high grades compete against each other in many events, but the most exciting were the games: sack race, orange race, tug-o-war, obstacle course, body surfing, pie eating contest, baby-bottle contest, and many more. This year's theme was "Cities of the World." The seniors chose New York City, the juniors Paris, and the sophomores London. Although the sophomores pulled a major upset by defeating the seniors and winning first place in the hall decorations, the seniors reigned by winning the Dress-up Day, Academic Challenge, Spelling Bee, and games. The Spirit Week activities were exciting, and school spirit reached a peak.

Personal Best

At the end of each school year, the athletes of the school are honored with a Sports Awards Dinner. At this event, each senior athelete receives a caricature with his or her senior picture and favorite sport. The most outstanding player in each sport is recognized, and the all around "Pro-Nelson" senior male and female athletes receive a large trophy and have their names entered in the Spartan sports "Hall of Fame." This year, the dinner will be moved from the traditional site, Stokesay Castle, to the Sheraton's new banquet facilities. It will be held on Tuesday, May 26, 1987. Furthermore, the Sports Awards Committee will not select a noted sports figure to be the Master of Ceremonies this year. Instead, a slide presentation of sports candids will be shown, and past "Pro-Nelson" winners will be invited to speak.

The Colophon staff sincerely apologizes to any patrons whose names were inadvertently omitted from the patron list.

Acknowledgements

A high school yearbook records the activities and members of the graduating class, and the 1987 Colophon staff has attempted to document the last episode of the seniors' high school career.

However, the success of this publication depended on the talents of many people, and the yearbook staff would like to express its appreciation to those individuals. We thank Mr. Edward Patrick of the Taylor Publishing Company for sharing his technical knowledge and also Mr. Robert Rasbridge and Mr. Brad Drey of the Purdon House of Photography for their photographic contributions. Furthermore, we especially thank our persevering advisor, Mr. David Martin, who boldly volunteered to guide the Colophon staff for his first time, and to Mr. Charles Bell, who provided his invaluable advice from previous years of yearbook experience and who helped the financial staff. In addition, we extend our thanks to the members of the senior class who collected funds during the annual patron drive and to the members of the community who supported this publication by donating the funds.

Finally, I would like to thank the 1987 Colophon staff, especially the section editors and my Assistant Editor, Amy Niehaus, for their innumerable hours of commitment.

To the ancient Greeks the "Kolophŏn" was an inscription, containing facts relative to production, placed at the end of a manuscript. The 1987 Colophon staff has attempted to capture the events of spirit of the senior class at Wyomissing Area High School. We affix this "Colophon" inscription — an identifying symbol of excellence signifying the termination of an accomplished endeavor — in the hope that our yearbook has merited this mark of excellence.
